FIFTEEN CHILDREN SAVED FROM SCHOOL BUS WILL RECOVER

Freezing Victims Will Not Suffer Amputations

LAMAR, Colo., March 30.—Complete recovery was predicted today for fifteen school children who were rescued half-frozen from the blizzard-bound school bus in which five pupils perished during thirty-six hours of imprisonment by one of the worst storms in forty years. The survivors praised the heroic efforts of Carl Miller, driver of the bus who perished in an attempt to bring help to the children. Miller's body was found near the bus. He had given most of his clothing to the children to keep them warm. Funeral services were being planned today for the six victims. All had died of freezing, according to Dr. G. E. Casburn.

Five of the most seriously frost-bitten children were removed from Holly, Colo., to Lamar by airplane. At Maxwell Hospital where the survivors were taken it was said that no amputations were believed necessary and all the children were recovering the mobility of their limbs.

KANSAS CITY, March 30.—Generally rising temperatures prevailed throughout the Rocky Mountain and plains states today where the blizzard took an estimated total of seventeen lives and left roads and highways choked with snow. Snow was still falling in several sections of the Rocky Mountain area. Milder temperatures relieved the suffering somewhat, however. A survey of livestock and fruit throughout the area showed heavy losses, according to the departments of agriculture of several affected states.

Plan Arraignment In Jail; Will Guard Against Delivery

(BULLETIN)

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 30.—Fred Burke, multi-killer, was arraigned today in his cell in the Berrien County jail today on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the ruthless slaying of Patrolman Charles Skelly here.

Burke stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered for him. His examination was fixed for April 8.

Taking no chances of a possible attempt to liberate Burke, guards with leveled riot guns stood around the jail during the arraignment keeping a large crowd at a distance.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 30.—Fear of a jail delivery attempt by Chicago gangsters today gave rise to plans to rush Fred Burke, the wanton killer and super-gangster, to Jackson State Penitentiary for safe keeping. The transfer was expected to be made immediately after the slayer's arraignment.

Chicago's underworld, hangout of powerful gangland friends of Burke, is only two hours distant by fast motor. Authorities expressed the opinion that they would be taking unnecessary chances if they keep Burke here more than a few days.

Burke is charged with the murder of Charles Skelly, St. Joseph policeman, one of the gangsters' twenty-one victims.

The killer was returned here from St. Joseph, Mo., last night. A special guard of police and deputy sheriffs was thrown around his cell and the jail. Among the first persons to see the underworld hoodlum was Gustave Skelly, father of the slain policeman.

He looked at Burke for a few moments through the bars of the killer's cell. Burke stared him in the eye, never flinching. The dead policeman's father, an elderly and gaunt man, started chewing his grizzled mustache nervously. Then he broke into tears. It was a dramatic and touching scene.

All approaches to the jail were crowded for hours before Burke and three carloads of officers, the guards heavily armed, arrived. State police from White Pigeon and Paw Paw posted themselves at strategic positions, armed with riot guns.

Several persons in the milling crowd attempted to strike Burke as the killer, in the midst of a flying human wedge of officers, was taken from the armored car into the jail. More than 1,000 men and women and children braved a blizzard sweeping in from Lake Michigan to catch a glimpse of the man they had known as Frederick Dane, retired, wealthy and of quiet tastes. The modern Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde of a modern underworld.

MYSTERY DUEL BEING PROBED

CLEVELAND, March 30.—Carl Amato, 22, was shot and seriously wounded in a mysterious shotgun battle on the outskirts of Cleveland today, according to police.

Another man, believed to have been involved in the same shooting, was arrested nearby the scene of the shooting with shotgun wounds in the back and leg. He was not seriously wounded and was taken to central police station for questioning.

Amato, his head and shoulders riddled with the shot from the shotgun shells, was taken to Emergency Clinic and later removed to City Hospital where his condition was reported as critical.

A police found Amato lying in a driveway. They had first been informed of the shooting by a telephone call from a man who talked in whispering tones, apparently attempting to disguise his voice, police said.

Discovery of a loaded but undischarged revolver by his side led police to believe that Amato tried to prepare himself for the attack. An automobile, believed to have been driven by Amato, was found parked in the driveway.

BLAME EACH OTHER FOR MURDER

While awaiting extradition to Troy, N. Y., from McAlester, Okla., for the murder of John A. Frey, New York state trooper, William Schmittner, 21, left, and Stanley Chero, 24, right, blame each other for the tragedy. When examination revealed it was a .45 caliber bullet that had killed Frey, Chero said he had fired a .38 and that Schmittner's gun was a .45, although the latter declared he "had nothing to do with it."

The youths fired shots at Frey on the road near Troy, when he attempted to arrest them for stealing, held up his companion, Trooper Edward Updike, and stole his car in which they fled to McAlester. Both attempted to escape from the McAlester police station and Chero was shot in the leg and back. Photo shows him in the hospital, where he was taken, critically wounded.

DAYTON YOUTHS ARE VICTIMS WHEN AUTO CRASHES INTO POLE

Wreck Near Beaver School Proves Fatal For One Youth

Five Dayton youths were injured, one fatally, when their auto crashed into a pole and upset on the Dayton-Xenia Pike, near the Beaver-creek Twp. high school, six miles west of Xenia, early Sunday night.

The most seriously injured crash victim was removed in an R. M. Neeld ambulance to Miami Valley Hospital, where he died, while three others were taken in a J. H. Whitmer ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital in that city and the fifth to McClellan Hospital, Xenia. The victims are:

Bert Zimmerman, 21, of 430 St. Paul Ave., Dayton, who died at Miami Valley Hospital from a skull fracture at 7:18 o'clock Monday morning. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zimmerman.

Walter Krug, 16, of 1319 W. Fifth St., Dayton, who suffered a broken right leg and cuts and bruises and is at McClellan Hospital.

Victor Koenig, 22, of 557 St. Paul Ave., Dayton, removed to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where attendants said he was suffering from shock and other injuries.

Charles Castle, 22, of 145 Nassau St., Dayton, confined in St. Elizabeth Hospital with a possible fractured hip.

William Popp, 22, of 522 Loraine Ave., Dayton, also taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where attendants said he received cuts on the right leg and is suffering from shock.

Zimmerman, it was reported, was pinned under the automobile, which was wrecked, while Krug and Koenig were thrown out of the car onto the highway when the machine, traveling toward Xenia, overturned after smashing into the pole.

The auto struck a guy wire, stretched to another pole, which tore the body of the machine from the chassis. Two poles, supporting power lines, were torn down by the wire, as a result of which many residents of the vicinity were without electrical services for several hours after the accident.

The local sheriff's office investigated the crash.

FLYER HURT AS SHIP CRASHES

Plane Hits House Roof In Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., March 30.—A victim of "jammed controls," Edward Rice, 26-year-old Columbus aviator, was in University Hospital in a critical condition here today, suffering injuries received when his crippled plane plunged to earth, tearing away the corner of a house top and digging into a brick street in the north part of the city yesterday.

The flyer tried desperately to gain altitude for twenty minutes before the plane finally zoomed downward into a tree and struck the home of Perry Rott, ripping off slate, spouting and eaves, eyewitnesses said.

Firemen rescued Rice from the ship just as flames were eating their way toward him, the plane having caught fire at the right wing when it severed two high-tension wires in its fall. They found him clamped in the cockpit, the joystick bent into a semi-circle over the upper part of his leg.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL DIES

COLUMBUS, O., March 30.—Earl Eldridge Garwick, 47, principal of Livingston Avenue elementary school and a graduate of Miami University at Oxford, was dead here today after an illness of three months.

WINTER WEATHER TO RETREAT SLOWLY; MARCH REMAINS COLD

COLUMBUS, O., March 30.—Spring weather, which vanished at the official opening of spring more than a week ago and has been strangely elusive since, will delay its reappearance until several days after the end of traditional blustery March, weather bureau officials were convinced today.

Though March will not go out like a lion, neither will its departure be quiet amid balmy breezes, Weatherman William A. Alexander predicted.

Until the very end of the week, he said, the temperature will remain sub-normal, although it will be climbing slowly but determinedly from its present low point.

The "warmer weather" predicted for the last day of the month as well as for April Fool's Day will be little warmer than week-end weather, which fell to a temperature of 31 degrees here today.

Ohio, the weatherman said, was still suffering from the blizzard that struck other sections of the midwest. Although the snow missed Ohio generally, the chill of the past week, Alexander added, was due to storms in other sections.

"AKRON MARY" POSES FOR HYMIE

This excellent likeness of "Akron Mary" Woodfield, sweetheart of "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, bootlegger on trial in Cleveland for the murder of former Councilman William E. Potter, was taken expressly for "her Hymie." Before she permitted photographers to snap her in jail Mrs. Woodfield made them promise to give the best photo to Hymie to replace the newspaper photo he has had tacked on the wall of his cell. The state contends that "Akron Mary" knows more about the Potter murder and Martin's alleged part in it than she has told this far.

NINE BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $50,000 AFTER BLOWING STORE VAULT

REST IN PEACE!

LONDON, March 30.—Because he feared that his thirty-year-old automobile might fall into unkindly hands, Dr. Francis Pearce today decided to bury it with all honors in a plot of ground near a cemetery. Up until three years ago he drove the car regularly.

INDIA, REPENTANT ABOUT SURLINESS, NOW HONORS GANDHI

Between 80,000 — 100,000 Pay Tribute To Nationalist Head

BOMBAY, March 30.—The masses of India, as if repentant over last week's surliness toward Mahatma M. K. Gandhi, spurred his foot today and hailed him as their true leader.

Between 80,000 and 100,000 men and women fought to get a glimpse of him as he appeared in flowing white robe at the forty-fifth annual session of the Indian national congress now in progress in Karachi.

Surrounded by his group of apostles, the "holy man" sat in silence on a wooden platform erected in the vast open-air stadium, and heard the multitude vigorously cheering those who reiterated India's demand for complete national independence.

Gandhi observed his customary day of silence, remaining on the platform in the hot sun throughout the afternoon while hundreds of followers filed past and touched the hem of his garments.

When night fell, and the stadium with its colored lanterns became a scene of gayety, the "holy man" leaned on his dust-stained walking staff and retired to his quarters to break his long fast with a draught of goat's milk.

Congressional proceedings were in charge of Vallabhai Patel, president of the nationalist organization. In addition to endorsing the Gandhi-Irwin pact and calling for its support, he directed the adoption of resolutions for total prohibition in India and the unqualified extension of the franchise to women.

Young radicals who last week stirred up considerable dissent against Gandhi and his policy of non-violence, attempted again to stage demonstrations but encountered overwhelming opposition.

DAYTON MAN DROWNS

DAYTON, O., March 30.—Apparently having slipped from the bank of the Miami River while fishing, John D. Studynaker, 57, was dead here today from drowning. The body was found near Island Park bridge.

CONFESSED SLAYER OF EIGHT REPORTED CHIEF OF PLOTTERS

Police Doubt Story Of Famous Iowa Axe Murders

DETROIT, March 30.—George Meyers, 48, who confessed to the famous Iowa axe murders, today was placed in solitary confinement at the county jail here as the result of what police said were plans for a wholesale jail break.

Locks in the prison had been tampered with and prisoners roamed in the corridors without restraint. Two bars in Meyers' cell window were sawed through.

Meanwhile, police pushed their investigation into Meyers' confession that he had killed eight persons with an axe in Villisca, Iowa, June 10, 1912.

According to authorities, thirteen prisoners, all charged with major crimes, figured in the jail break plans. They described Meyers as the ring leader in the plot.

Police were inclined to doubt Meyers' confession today after Harland Miller, Des Moines newspaperman, had questioned the man. Miller declared that there were many differences in Meyers' story of the wholesale murders and the actual killings.

Miller was sent here by Governor Dan W. Turner, of Iowa. The reporter "covered" the case in 1912.

Meyers, a former inmate of the Ohio State penitentiary, confessed that he had been offered $5,000 to kill Joseph Moore in the Iowa village nineteen years ago. He declared that he not only killed Moore but also the man's wife and four children to death with an axe. Two children of one of Moore's neighbors were guests in the Moore house on the fatal night and were also slain, bringing the death toll to eight.

Meyers was arrested here in February on a burglary charge and subsequently convicted. He faced life imprisonment under Michigan's habitual criminal law when he made the sensational confession of the axe murders.

Though police doubted the man's confession, no stone was being left unturned to check the man's fiendish story. Police from Red Oak, Iowa, were reported to be enroute here to question Meyers.

FORMER STAGE STAR SUICIDES

Peggy Davis Drives Auto Over Cliff

NICE, France, March 30.—For the second time within a month, the day Riviera was shocked today by a tragedy involving an American girl.

The body of Peggy Davis, former star of many Broadway musical comedy hits, was extricated early Sunday from the wreckage of the car which she drove over the famed Mediterranean "Suicide Leap" cliff near the village of Eze, within view of Consuelo Vanderbilt's estate.

The former actress, 37 years old, was the wife of David Townsend, an Australian millionaire also well known in Wall Street.

A scribbled note was found beside the body of the woman whose beauty once captivated Broadway. It read:

"I hope my family will forgive me for the pain I am causing them. My only regret is leaving my little girl, but I am tired of life and prefer to die."

DR. GEORGE DORSEY SUDDENLY CALLED

NEW YORK, March 30.—Funeral services were arranged today for Dr. George A. Dorsey, anthropologist and writer. He died suddenly at his home here last night at the age of 63. He was born in Hebron, Ohio, and led several expeditions for the Field Museum, Chicago.

Dr. Dorsey, whose book, "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," brought him wide fame four years ago, died as he and his wife were examining proofs of a book he had just completed covering a study of civilization. His death followed a sudden heart attack.

During the World's Fair in Chicago Dr. Dorsey arranged many exhibitions and later became curator of the Field Museum of Natural History. He held honorary degrees from Harvard and Denison.

TEX LOSES JEWELS

NEW YORK, March 30.—Texas Guinan, night club hostess, reported to police today she had been robbed of $15,000 worth of jewels. She said thieves entered her apartment during the night while she was at her club.

INSPIRING EASTER CONCERT HEARD AT REFORMED CHURCH

An inspiring and beautiful Easter concert was given at the vesper hour Sunday at the First Reformed Church by the choir and assisting musicians of the city. Soloists for the program were Mrs. John Watkins, soprano; Mrs. W. C. McGervey, contralto, (guest soloist from Trinity M. E. Church) and Mrs. Louis Hammerle, violinist. Their numbers were given in a finished manner and were greatly enjoyed by the audience.

The anthems showed careful preparation and the Easter message was brought anew to the hearts of the listeners as each number was presented by the chorus. Those taking solo parts in the anthems were Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Edwin Buck, Mrs. Allyn C. Swinerton, Mrs. McGervey and Mrs. Raymond Wolf.

Miss Juanita Rankin was an able accompanist for the program and took the organ part in the ensemble numbers with the violin and piano, both numbers receiving an appreciative hearing.

An Easter meditation as given by the Rev. W. W. Foust, pastor, added greatly to the Easter spirit of the program. The program was under the direction of Miss Margaret Williams, organist and director of music.

BISHOP HOBSON TO ATTEND SERVICES AT CHRIST CHURCH

The Rt. Rev. Henry W. Hobson, bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Southern Ohio, will attend Easter services at Christ Episcopal Church in Xenia, according to word received from him Saturday.

Bishop Hobson was in Xenia for the first time last Wednesday night, when he addressed members of the congregation at a parish dinner given in his honor, and also at a special service which followed the dinner.

The service Easter morning will be that of Holy Communion, at which Bishop Hobson will preside and deliver the sermon. Easter anthems will be sung by the choir, directed by Mrs. C. W. Adair, with Mrs. Alice Ruthrauff at the organ.

DENIED RIGHT TO REFUSE TO TESTIFY

The Franklin County court of appeals, in a decision announced Saturday, denied the right of Harry E. Mouser, Xenia, Charles Rogers, Lebanon, and Carl Moore, Harveysburg, truck operators, to refuse to testify before the state public utilities commission, because their answers might incriminate them.

Hailed before the utilities commission for alleged refusal to comply with the state utilities law, the truckers, when questioned concerning their operations, declined to answer any questions.

Judge Henry Scarlett ruled that a statute granting them immunity when so testifying deprived them of their constitutional right to refuse to testify, and this decision was upheld by the county appellate court.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT IS FORCED TO CURTAIL PROGRAM

COLUMBUS, O., March 30.—Faced with a curtailed budget, highway department officials here have been forced to "red pencil" the state's 1931 road program 56 per cent to hold it within a $17,000,000 budget.

This was disclosed here today in tentative plans, exclusively revealed to International News Service, for the apportionment of highway funds for the coming year.

Work which the highway department mapped out several weeks ago for its 1931 program, would have necessitated expenditures totaling more than $50,000,000. Due to the failure of the state gasoline tax, however, to provide sufficient funds to finance the originally sketched improvements, the highway department found itself forced to curtail its program into the narrow budget of $17,000,000—a total about $4,000,000 less than what was expended last year.

Final details of how the $17,000,000 will be allotted have not been worked out, but estimates have been made subject to change at the highway department's discretion.

In some instances, the estimates are complete. Others, however, are the result of only preliminary consideration. The estimate for Greene County would give that county $322,000.

The retiring officers, who had held office for the last two years, were E. H. Smith, formerly clerk of the Silvercreek Twp. board, and R. E. Bryson, clerk of the Xenia Twp. board, who had been president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

The next meeting of the county organization will be held April 24 and an interesting program is being arranged. Services of a state speaker will be obtained, musical entertainment provided and a covered dish supper served.

ELYRIA, O., March 30.—Edward Nolan Jr., 28, and Spencer Stevens, Lorain sailors, were sentenced to life imprisonment at Ohio penitentiary by Judge W. B. Thompson here today for the murder of Norman Watte 69, novelty salesman of Lorain.

The two men were sentenced after they had changed their pleas of not guilty to guilty of charges of first degree murder in connection with the death of Watte, whose battered body was found in the Magic Shop at Lorain last January 28.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. PARTHENIA KING

As the result of a paralytic stroke suffered several days ago, Mrs. Parthenia King, 75, widow of Leonard King, died at her home on the Hite Road, three miles west of Bowersville, Monday morning at 6:30 o'clock. Mrs. King lived alone and it is thought she suffered the stroke last Monday. She was not found until Thursday by a neighbor. Her condition had been critical since Saturday when she lost consciousness.

Mrs. King was born near Blanchester in Clinton County and lived there until the time of her marriage. Her husband preceded her in death a number of years. She was the last of her immediate family and there are no near surviving relatives. Funeral arrangements have not been made and will be announced later.

BEGIN ERECTION OF BOULEVARD LIGHTS

For the purpose of conveying to Xenians an advance impression of how the proposed "white way" system will further beautify the business district after removal of the present overhead construction, workmen of The Dayton Power and Light Co. Monday began the erection of four sample boulevard lights at equal distances apart along the west side of N. Detroit St. from Main to Market St.

The company plans to eventually install six blocks of boulevard lights, lighted by fifty-two lamps, the connections all to be underground. Temporarily, the four standards now being erected, will be connected from existing poles.

HAWKS OFF TO EUROPE NEW YORK, March 30.—Captain Frank Hawks, holder of many airplane speed records, will sail tonight for a tour in Europe. He will take his speed plane with him and may attempt to establish new records abroad.

INJUNCTION WILL BE HEARD APRIL 10

Hearing on an injunction suit recently filed against the Beavercreek Twp board of education by Erith R. Shoup on behalf of himself and 673 other residents of the township, to enjoin the school board from constructing the new $180,000 centralized school building on the Haines farm site, midway between the present school and Zimmerman, has been assigned for April 10 by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy.

Shoup and the other petitioners, who favor location of the school at Zimmerman, claim the school board abused its discretion in the matter by selecting the Haines site contrary to the wishes of a majority of the voters of the township.

A temporary injunction was granted by Probate Judge S. C. Wright in the absence of Judge Gowdy and the petitioners will seek to have the restraining order made permanent at the hearing.

SEEKING BANDITS

CLEVELAND, March 30.—Three youthful bandits, who had the appearance of high school students but carried man-sized revolvers, were hunted by police today for the robbery of $1,100 at the Knickerbocker Theater here last night.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord. Wherefore we labour, that, whether present or absent, we may be accepted of him.—II Corinthians 5, 8, 9.

MATERIALLY AFFECTED

The political and economic alignments of European countries have been materially affected by three recent events. One of these was the conclusion of the Franco-Italian naval agreement, with the cooperation of Great Britain. Another was the inauguration of a movement for a tariff union between Germany and Austria. The third was the still more recent admission of Soviet Russia to the commission that is preparing for a formal meeting to study Aristide Briand's plan for an United States of Europe. All three of these steps were in the direction of restoring European normality after the disturbance caused by the World war and its aftermath.

The war found the six leading European nations fairly evenly balanced in two well defined groups. The Italians seceded from the triple alliance in 1915 and went over to the allies. A little later the defection of Czarist Russia took that country out of the Anglo-France-Russian entente-alliance. Thus both of the old groups were smashed and new alignments necessitated. Communism and fascism appeared to complicate the task of restoring the balance of power, which is Europe's traditional substitute for confederation in an effort to maintain peace.

Angered at the treatment his country received in the division of the spoils of war, Signor Mussolini at first flirted with Germany, where his hopes of assistance in checking French aspirations in central Europe were encouraged by the flare-up of German fascism under Adolf Hitler. The possibility of a rapprochement with Germany was not so powerful a weapon in seeking naval parity with France as he perhaps thought it would be. At any rate Italy's financial exigencies finally forced him to listen to pacific counsel by the lending countries, Great Britain, France and the United States. All talk of a brotherhood of European fascists stopped. Soon, an agreement with France, with Great Britain as an associate partner, was announced. Germany, thus dropped by Italy, turned naturally to Austria for an economic alliance, with future political possibilities, which it hoped would restore its prestige by eventually including other neighboring countries. The permanent exclusion of a people as numerous and economically potential as the Russians from any pan-European movement, without seriously lessening its chances of success, would be hardly possible.

All the negotiations and intrigues, all the oratory and chicanery, all the congresses and conventions and conversations, all the talk of wars and mountings in hot haste to prevent them, which have been necessary to rationalize European alignments even to this limited extent, amply prove how much the United States gains by remaining aloof from such embroilments.

PROSECUTORS MEET

The prosecuting attorneys who met in Chicago this week and created the nucleus for a national association of prosecutors are on the right track. Vice and crime in this country, as these officials stated, are no longer local problems. "White slave" and narcotic and alcoholic rings operate on large regional bases. Gangsters and slayers for hire are in this jurisdiction today and in that tomorrow. The ridiculousness of attempting to combat these evil activities as if they were county matters only is proved by the country's failure to make any headway against organized crime and vice, which transcend even state boundaries.

Sooner or later it will have to be recognized that criminals, with their present mobility, will keep ahead of the law as long as the police and prosecuting officials are hampered by local restrictions and outlook. The association proposed at the Chicago meeting will have a permanent liaison bureau, with a paid secretary, which will be on the job every day of the year and will keep the members of the association constantly informed on matters pertinent to their work. An organization of this sort ought to be extremely useful in co-ordinating the work of prosecuting officials, as well as in bringing their united influence to bear on legislatures for any legislation that may be necessary to further facilitate the proper performance of their duties, which constitute as important a link as any in the chain which leads from arrest to conviction and the penitentiary.

ALARM REPORTED

The alarm reported to be felt in France, Italy, and Czechoslovakia over the proposed Austro-German customs union may be due to more than the fear of economic consequences. The leaders of these countries are possibly irritated by the possibility of Germany and Austria stealing their pan-European thunder. Statements given out in Vienna and Berlin describe the projected union as a first step in what its proponents hope will become a general European agreement with respect to tariffs.

This impressive program impinges on Aristide Briand's plan for an United States of Europe and it also reflects on the recent unsuccessful attempt of European governments to come to an agreement on the tariff question. Should the Austro-German scheme go through and eventually expand into an European customs arrangement, with all the political potentialities such a movement would contain, Austrian and German leadership would be entitled to much of the credit. A realization of that may have had something to do with the haste in which France, Italy and Czechoslovakia protested against Germany and Austria working together in closer fiscal harmony.

So Dr. E. G. Conklin, head of the biology department at Princeton, has decided that creation is not a perfect design. That certainly is tough. And we suppose that now the Diet will have to get busy and do his work all over again if he wants a passing mark from Dr. Conklin.

The Soviets have tardily discovered that communism breeds loafers. Americans found that out at Jamestown and Plymouth, which explains why they discarded communism three centuries ago.

Small blame to President Hoover if he wants to get away from the city where congress met, until the hot air has dissipated.

If William J. Bryan were still here the price of silver would be a worse shock to him than the sins of the evolutionists were.

After instituting telephone divorce, the next thing for Nevada to invent will be telephonic marriage of the reassorted couples.

Senator Nye can now tell the home folks all about the expense account of his campaign funds investigating committee.

A RECOMMENDATION

NEW YORK CITY, New York.—If you're fond of poetry—real poetry—step around to the nearest book shop and invest in a copy of Roy Helton's "Lonesome Water," a collection of lyrics breath taking, vibrant and altogether exquisite. Helton is of Kentucky mountain stock—and his songs deal with the primal human emotions of the men and women who roam the valleys and scale the peaks.

He is a poet whose art is supported by the stock market. He quit school teaching to watch the ticker and control sufficient dough to be able to write poetry, which, he gravely asserts, is much more important than stock dabbling.

A few more Roy Heltons and none of us would lie awake nights worryin' about the crushing influence of the machine age.

MAD LAUGHTER

A THRILLING MYSTERY STORY + by MILES BURTON

CHAPTER 54

The detective ransacked the vessel thoroughly, forcing open lockers and searching every corner, without discovering anything of value. Pollard scratched his head reflectively. "They can't have dumped the stuff overboard!" he exclaimed.

"I shouldn't think so," replied Dick. "Though we'll have the river dredged if we can't find it. Good Lord! I know. What an ass I was not to have thought of it before! Here, lend me a hand, there's a good fellow."

He tore up the carpet with which the floor of the cabin was covered, exposing the floor boards. These were screwed down to their bearers, but the screws were recently inserted. "Let's have a screw-driver!" exclaimed Dick excitedly. "There's one in the engine room; I saw it just now."

Pollard fetched it, and Dick took the screws out one by one. He was enabled to lift the boards. The space between them and the bottom of the ship was tightly packed with ballast, formed of leaden pigs. And among them were three which bore curious antique inscriptions.

"There you are!" exclaimed Dick. "There's the stuff, or at all events some of it. Pretty neat, isn't it? Nobody would guess if they didn't know the secret. One of these pigs is the one that Dr. Weatherleigh brought from Wells with him. The other two are what the men fetched from Lestrage Hall, no doubt."

"But I don't see the stuff," objected Pollard doubtfully.

"We'll get these pigs ashore and I'll show you," replied Dick.

"The sooner we get them to the Yard the better, I suppose."

Pollard agreed, though without fully comprehending. "I'll get the Superintendent to put a guard over the boat," he said. "Perhaps he'll send us back to the Yard in a car, and we can take these pigs with us."

Between them they managed to get the pigs on deck, and when the dinghy came off to fetch them, the Superintendent himself, all agog to see the end of the matter, was in it. Pollard explained his necessity for returning immediately to London, and the Superintendent agreed to put a car at his disposal.

Dick, completely exhausted, slept most of the journey, and it was not until the car drew up at the Yard, in the early hours of the morning, that he awoke. Sir Edric, warned by telephone from Ipswich of their arrival, was waiting for them, and they proceeded to his room to recount their adventures.

"By Jove, carried her by boarding, did you?" he exclaimed, as they finished their story. "That was a pretty good effort."

"They fought as they fought in Nelson's fleet—"

They were stripped to the waist, they were bare to the feet. As it was in the days of old."

"Not quite accurate, perhaps, but picturesque enough. I'll bet that was your idea, Dick! Now then, let's have a look at these pigs of yours. I had a forge and an iron pan rigged up as soon as I got your message."

They went downstairs, where they found the forge, and the pigs guarded by a couple of men. The pan was already on the fire, and, under Sir Edric's instructions, one of the pigs was lifted into it.

Dick uttered an exclamation of astonishment. The metal of the pig began to run as soon as it touched the hot sides of the pan. "That's not lead!" he said. "It's something melting at a much lower temperature, ordinary fusible metal, probably. You see the idea? There would be danger of the stones cracking in contact with molten lead, so they used something which melted at a low temperature—look!"

The metal melted rapidly, filling the pan with a silvery liquid. And on its surface appeared a mass of roughly-cut stones, floating so thickly that they covered the whole extent of the pan.

"The Hatton Garden stones!" exclaimed Sir Edric. "We'll have to skim them off with a ladle. All right, but that pan aside. There are a couple more, we'll see what's in the other two."

The experiment was repeated, and this time the blood-red glitter of the Maharajah's rubies greeted them. At the third and last melting, the glorious stones from the famous Hardway necklace scintillated before their eyes.

"Well, that's that," commented Sir Edric. "We owe this to you, Dick. But I cannot help seeing the humor of the fact that you lived at Lestrage Hall at that time, with your sister's diamonds lying on a shelf in your host's study!"

By MILDRED MASON

"MUSIC which picks up the tired soldier after he has marched about twenty-eight miles and makes him feel like a young man again," is the way Arthur Pryor, leader of the Pryor-Cremo Military Band, describes the program he broadcasts over the Columbia Broadcasting System six nights a week over a coast-to-coast network. Since Pryor and his band started a series of concerts on the air March 16 they have proven one of the most popular high lights on the CBS network.

One of Pryor's own compositions, "The Irish King," will be featured Tuesday evening in his broadcast. His programs are heard from 8 to 8:15 p. m. over several eastern stations and are repeated from 11:15 to 11:30 p. m. for mid-western and Pacific Coast Stations. The programs are heard through station WKRC, Cincinnati, at the latter time.

Station WLW will broadcast from the Ohio senate for the Ohio School of the Air program Tuesday from 2 to 3 p. m. Lieut. Gov. William G. Pickrel will preside and the program has been arranged so that the debate will be limited and as many senators as possible may be heard and as complete a sample of procedure will be shown to the listening pupils.

Crumit-Sanderson Program A new batch of "Foolish Facts," a novelty patter song, will be presented by Frank Crumit in the Blackstone Plantation program broadcast over the NBS network Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, coming through station WSAI, Cincinnati. Julia Sanderson, who co-stars with Crumit, will sing "Lost" and "Tell Me" on the same program.

"Blackouts" To Continue The "blackout" sketches presented on the Henry-George program over the CBS network every Tuesday evening will be continued for another fifty-two weeks, starting Tuesday. It is announced. The "minute dramas" as they are called are hilariously funny and have proven popular with their audience. The Henry-George program

ELINOR INJURED

Elinor Smith, one of America's leading aviators, was injured when her plane cracked up near Mitchell Field, N. Y., as she made a forced landing after going to a height estimated at five miles. She lost consciousness, but revived in time to save herself.

English pictures lack punch because censors devitalize them before a camera starts to grind says Conway Tearle, who has returned to Hollywood after eight months in London.

"I made a picture called 'Captivation' for an independent producer John Harville," he explains. "When they brought the script to me I suggested a number of changes to inject a little life into it. The company was agreeable but informed me censors would never give their okay."

"They are much stricter upon native companies than upon the American films coming in. As a result, you get only lightweight

English pictures lack punch because censors devitalize them before a camera starts to grind says Conway Tearle, who has returned to Hollywood after eight months in London.

Fully recovered from her recent illness, Dolores Del Rio is expected to sign a long-term contract at RKO within the next few days. Several studios have evinced an interest in her, but it is reported she will sign with William Le Baron. In the meanwhile there remains "The Dove" which she is supposed to make for United Artists. This film is on and off the studio schedule. If production does get under way, however, Dolores will do this apart from her contract with any other studio. It has been a year now since she made a picture her last being "The Bad One," filmed for United Artists in March, 1930.

Polly Moran is back in Hollywood from Palm Springs where she was a guest of Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York. They've been friends for twenty-three years.

Mr. Charles Graham, a former Xenian, who has been appearing in vaudeville for several years, recently wrote to Mr. George Swartz, enclosing a clipping which highly compliments the new act he is appearing in this season. A party of Xenians, including Prosecutor F. L. Johnson, B. R. McClellan, E. F. Canby and John Vanderpool, is in Columbus today to protest against passage of the Dean-Fulton bill. stories from England." Salaries of English stars are about half what they are in Hollywood, Tearle declares. Few players receive more than $1,000 a week while on the stage $600 a week is a big salary.

Motion picture patrons, on the other hand, pay more for their entertainment. First-run houses, running program pictures, charge $1.75 for the best seats. "If the censorship restrictions are ever lowered, you will see an entirely different sort of film come out of England," Tearle predicts. "They have the ability and the willingness over there. There simply are too many don'ts."

The best pictures of the month, selected by Photoplay Magazine, are: "Kiki"; "East Lynne"; "A Connecticut Yankee"; "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath"; "Lonely Wives" and "Mother's Millions."

The magazine lists the best performances of the month as follows: Mary Pickford and Reginald Denery, in "Kiki"; Ann Harding and Clive Brook in "East Lynne"; Will Rogers in "A Connecticut Yankee"; Buster Keaton and Charlotte Greenwood in "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath"; Edward Everett Horton in "Lonely Wives"; Skeets Gallagher in "It Pays to Advertise"; Jeanette MacDonald in "Don't Bet on Women" and Nancy Carroll in "Stolen Heaven."

FIVE ARRESTED IN EIGHT RAIDS HERE ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Five persons, three of whom are colored, were arrested as an outgrowth of eight liquor raids conducted jointly by city and county authorities in Xenia Saturday night.

Those in custody are: Noble Pace, 31, white, Cottage Grove Ave.; Mary Scott, 35, colored, 11 Fair St.; Joseph McDonald, 37, colored, 1924 E. Church St.; John Hopping, 58, white, 1015 W. Second St.; and Joseph Anderson, 27, colored, 408 E. Second St.

Pace, at whose home the raiding officers confiscated a basket full of half pint bottles of whiskey, was fined $500 and costs Monday morning by Municipal Judge E. Dawson Smith when he pleaded guilty to possessing liquor.

Mary Scott pleaded guilty to a similar charge and was fined $500 and costs and remanded to jail, officers finding a pitcher full of liquor at her home.

Joe Anderson, arrested at the Scott home on a disorderly charge, was fined $50 and costs. He pleaded not guilty to a second similar charge filed by J. B. Newsom, night turnkey at the county jail, and will have a hearing Monday afternoon. It is claimed he was disrespectful to the officers while the raid was in progress.

A fine of $300 and costs was imposed upon McDonald when he pleaded guilty to possessing liquor after two quarts, both partly full of whiskey, were found at his home.

Hopping pleaded not guilty to possessing liquor and possessing apparatus for the manufacture of liquor, and his hearing is assigned for Wednesday morning. His bond was fixed at $500. Authorities reported they confiscated part of a small still, a case and a basket full of beer at the Hopping home and that they poured out fifteen gallons of home brew in the making.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. DAWSON WELCH HERE

Mrs. Elizabeth Welch, 67, wife of Dawson Welch, died at her home, 256 Bellbrook Ave., Saturday night at 10:50 o'clock. She had been ill two months suffering from a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Welch was born in Adams County February 9, 1864, and had been a resident of Xenia ten years. She was a member of the Christian Union Church. Besides her husband she is survived by three sons, Elias, Edward and George, at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Minnie Thompson, Xenia. A sister, Miss Ellen Hildebrandt and a brother, Daniel Hildebrandt, Peebles, O., also survive as well as a granddaughter, Mary Ellen Thompson, this city.

Private funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call at the home any time Monday afternoon or evening.

BELL TELEPHONE BUILDING OPENED

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. opened its business office in the new Dayton telephone building at 215 W. Second St., at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Henceforth all contacts between the company and its patrons will be made in the new quarters, the old office at 52 W. Jefferson St. having suspended operations at noon Saturday.

Described by telephone officials as one of the finest offices of its kind in the Bell System, beauty combined with efficiency in the new building.

Because of the fact that dial telephone equipment is being installed in other parts of the building, only the business office can be open for public inspection at this time. The rest of the building will be opened after the city's telephone system changes from manual to dial operation next fall.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Seniors have been very busy lately and will continue to be for the remainder of the school year deciding on their mode of dress for the annual graduation exercises etc. It was decided this week that caps and gowns would not be worn again this year.

Members of the class selected their invitation cards for the 72nd annual commencement exercises at a recent meeting. The order this year will be handled by the Charters Jewelry Store as the local dealer. Bastian Brothers Co. of Indianapolis has furnished the announcements for the past several years and were awarded the contract again this year.

The seniors will soon be starting on their annual senior class play and a committee has been working for the past week on the selection of plays. Miss Olive Allen will again direct the senior play as was the case last year. The cast will be chosen within a few days following the announcement of the play.

Irma Van Horn, Irene Mickles, Heber Guyton, Dorothy Lunsford, Ada Johnson, Suzanna Guyton, and Argetta Harness, members of the senior high school, attended a recent meeting of the Ohio State World Wide Guild at Zanesville. The girls enjoyed the trip very much and had the opportunity of visiting some of the famous potteries in the region during their stay. At the main banquet of the meeting the girls had the pleasure of hearing Princess Atalon, a real Indian princess.

The Cen-Sen staff has been busy getting material ready for the engravings and printers. The Eckerle Printing Co. was awarded the contract for the printing of the year book this year. The Indianapolis Engraving Co. was awarded the engraving contract. Several pictures have been shipped for engraving and nearly all pictures have been taken for the "annual". Elwood Shaffer has been added to the staff in capacity of sport editor.

The junior class has been having considerable trouble with its play cast in the form of mumps. Nearly every member of the cast has been ill with this epidemic since the cast was chosen some weeks ago. It is hoped that all will recover by the end of the spring vacation period and work may be completed for the presentation of the play, Thursday and Friday nights April 16 and 17 are the dates set for the presentation of the play "Are You A Mason?"

The freshman published their edition of the Central High "Review" Thursday afternoon and a large number of copies were
